Record Setting

Exclusive Annual Report

THE 2001 EDITION OF THE TOP 500 was another record-setting year for Top 500 companies. The No. 500 company on this year's list, Four Seasons Sunrooms in Falls Church, VA, reported $1.43 million in installed volume (total year 2000 contracts including labor, materials and overhead) – an all-time record base level for the QR Top 500. Altogether, the 500 companies on this year's list represent more than $2.6 billion in installed sales.

The Top 500 data shows that more companies were either winners or losers in 2000 than in the previous year. Nearly 76 percent of this year's Top 500 companies reported increases in installed volume. That number is a sharp increase over 1998-99 when 50 percent reported increases in annual installed volume. At the same time, more companies reported a down year. Sixteen percent of the companies this year reported a decrease as compared to just 8 percent for the previous year.

When asked about prospects for 2001, companies on the Top 500 are optimistic. Eighty-five percent project increases in installed volume in 2001, and just 4 percent anticipate a decrease.

Nationals list added

A significant change in the Top 500 list this year is the creation of a separate Nationals list (see list on page 41 and Editorial on page 8). Made up of franchisor company headquarters and manufacturers who sell and perform installation, the 13 companies on the premiere Nationals list reported 2000 installed volume ranging from $13.5 million to $253 million. Total installed volume of the Nationals list is $992.8 million. Had these 13 companies been included on the 2001 Top 500, as had been done in past years, it would have further raised both the total installed volume of the Top 500 list and the base installed volume figures.

Another improvement was made to this year's Top 500. All companies that provided independent verification of their installed volume by an accounting firm or certified public accountant have been recognized with a boldface listing of their company name.

Windows/Doors are No. 1

For the second year in a row, windows and doors was the top category of remodeling with $594 million performed by Top 500 companies in 2000 (compared to $803 million reported in 1999) and representing about 23 percent of the Top 500 volume. The No. 2 category was siding with $342 million ($445 million in 1999).

Rounding out the top five were kitchen remodels in third place with $277 million in installed volume (No. 4 last year at $277 million); whole house remodels at $234 million (No. 5 last year with $213 million); and insurance/restoration work at $220 million (No. 3 last year with $376 million). Note that a number of categories were affected by the removal of the 13 companies on the Nationals list, especially insurance restoration. Paul Davis Restoration, the No. 1 company on the National list this year, was No. 1 on the Top 500 list last year when it represented more than half of the 1999 insurance and restoration volume.

Based on the number of companies performing work, roofing came in as the top category, with 87 percent of companies reporting that they performed some roofing work in 2000. Second was windows and doors, with 64 percent of the Top 500 installing them in 2000, followed by kitchens at 59 percent, siding at 58 percent and bathrooms at 54 percent.

2001 TOP 500 VOLUME BY SERVICE CATEGORY

Windows & Doors — $594 million	Insurance/Restoration — $220 million	Other — $128 million
Siding — $342 million	Room Additions — $191 million	Bathrooms — $124 million
Kitchens — $277 million	Sunrooms — $172 million	Decks & Porches — $107 million
Whole House — $234 million	Light Commercial — $130 million	Roofing — $94 million companies performing work was insurance/restoration work, with 19 percent of Top 500 remodelers. Those 98 firms, however, averaged a volume of $2.2 million in insurance/restoration work. In comparison, 435 firms report doing some roofing, which would average less than $200,000 per firm.

Website use increasing

Not surprisingly, every year the Top 500, in agreement with other industry research, shows an increase in the use of the Internet as a business tool.

Continuing a trend from the last few years, the number of companies that have websites increased from 63 percent last year to 72 percent this year. However, the use of e-mail for business may have begun to level off. Sixty-seven percent of this year's respondents reported they had an e-mail address, the same as last year.

Despite the wider use of the Web, it is still not a large source for sales leads, with 85 percent of the Top 500 getting no leads from the Internet.

Diverse materials suppliers

The traditional methods of buying materials still dominate, at least among the Top 500. More than 81 percent of the Top 500 reported buying at least some of their materials from distributors and nearly 73 percent reported buying direct from manufacturers. That compares to 43 percent that buy from a dealer and 40 percent that buy from home centers, like Home Depot or Lowe's.

Years in business

Most companies on the Top 500 have been in business for at least five years, with 77 percent having been in business at least 10 years. In an industry where most companies fail in less than five years, that's a testament to the durability of the Top 500 companies. Sixteen companies on this year's Top 500 have been in business for more than 50 years (including the 118-year-old St. Clair Corporation out of St. Louis at No. 18).

Even among the companies at the top of the list, there is a large disparity in the number of years in business. The No. 2 company, Bil-Ray, has been around for 52 years, while the No. 3 company, Hunt Building Corp., is a relative newcomer at 5 years. The top 10 have been in business an average of nearly 22 years.

Leaders by service categories

Twelve companies are also being recognized with special awards this year as the top company in their category.

Category winners are the largest companies doing at least 75 percent of their business in that category. This year's winners are: Whole House – Hunt Building Corp. (No. 3 on the Top 500), $47 million; Room Additions – Larsen Home Improvement Corp. (No. 106), $4.5 million; Kitchens – U.S. Home Systems Inc. (No. 6), $34.4 million; Bathrooms – California Bath Restoration (No. 193), $3.9 million; Windows/Doors – Castle – The Window People (No. 11), $23.6 million; Siding – Amazing Siding Corp. The award winners will be recognized at a special awards event Oct. 31 in Atlantic City (see page 42). ■
